What is RX Web?

RX Web is a web based access control system which can control up to 16 doors, using a combination of ASSA ABLOY hard wired readers and Aperio® online wireless access control.

- RX Web does not require any software as this is stored within the RX Web controller. Administration is completed remotely using the web interface.
- RX Web allows 1,000 users and 8 separate reader groups with 15 time schedules.
- RX Web works off line permitting or denying access to users while also storing up to 20,000 events. Reports are available via the web interface.

- RX Web control units will work seamlessly in the event of a communication failure. It will continue to permit or deny access to users as normal.
